Dear Mr. Giordani:

I first learned of Militec when it was introduced to me by the Drug Enforcement Administration at the Pasadena Police Range. I thought it was just another lubricant in the firearms industry until I used it in a comparison with other lubricants and noticed a marked improvement when I put Militec on the automatic slides. As most Rangemasters across this country know, police officers just do not keep oil on their automatics, let alone keep them clean. This is where Militec makes up for their laziness.

My second experience with Militec was when you visited my range about two years ago. When you demonstrated Militec on a pressure machine, it convinced me that Militec should be used whenever metal to metal decreases wear, whether it be with firearms or engines.

Also, as a Police Firearms Instructor, I travel to Lassen College in California and Trinidad College in Colorado to teach police armory repair, and I take Militec along with me. I believe this product is worth the time and effort to include in my travels and teaching.

Sincerely,

JACK N. PRESTON,
Rangemaster
